On Thursday, May 20, 2021 the 7th ABEST21 online workshop "Assuring the Quality of Online Lectures" held with Assistant Professor Zebada binti Abdul Hamid, Ph.D., Kulliyah of Economics and Management Science, International Islamic University, Malaysia and Professor Dr. Huam Hon Tat, Putra Business School, Malaysia as the speakers.

Assistant Professor Zabeda binti Abdul Hamid explained the structural transition from pre-2015 to current situation under COVID-19 pandemic period. IIUM recognized that their challenges they are facing is to strengthen their manpower and technological development before COVID-19 pandemic. However, in the pandemic situation, she pointed that IIUM needs to restructure their class contents to be more business oriented in order to make it efficient and effective, and to invest in the technology for hybrid class and online education in order to maintain the quality of online education. Also, IIUM is going to communicate with their students and school staff for their technological and mental support under the online environment. After her presentation, workshop members discussed monetary support for their students, the students' feedback to IIUM measures and so on.

Professor Huam Hon Tat, introduced about their various measures under difficult situation caused by COVID-19 and the responses from their students. PBS strictly defined class forms in order to build effective educational system. For example, the online platform for online class is only two, Zoom and Google Meet, and PBS has required teaching staff to check student's attendances by calling their name and ticking the name lists. With these specific rules for class, PBS has run their class. In addition, PBS carried out the survey for feedback to these measures. They found that over 80% students overall are satisfied with the online environment. This means that PBS teaching staff well utilized the technology for online education. Also, the survey showed that over 75% students agreed that the online education should remain as the part of PBS educational system. After his presentation, they discussed the difficulty of teaching theoretical things through online education.

The 8th online workshop is going to be held on June 17, 2021.
